

TRIBUTARIES® Takes Home Two Awards from Spring 2007 EH Expo

Coveted "People's Choice" For Best Overall Demo and Most Entertaining Demo in Demo Alley

Orlando, FL—TRIBUTARIES® Cable, known worldwide for its outstanding quality and service in the audio, video, and custom-installation cabling and accessories industry, was honored with the coveted "People's Choice Award" for the Best Overall Demonstration and "Most Entertaining Demonstration" in Demo Alley at the 2007 Spring EH Expo recently held in Orlando, Florida.

TRIBUTARIES® provided audio and video cables and the TX500 Power Manager for the Demo Alley demonstration. The TX500 provides unrivaled real-world performance in surge suppression and noise filtering of AC power. Featuring extensive power control and convenience for up to 10 components with a cumulative demand of as much as 1800 watts, the TX500 also delivers surge protection for twin telephone connections, and for two fully independent RF signal paths specifically designed for cable, satellite or antenna devices. Additionally, each RF circuit maintains a consistent 75-ohm impedance, providing bandwidth capability in excess of 1.5GHz.

"The RBH, ADA, Auralex, ProjectionDesign, Tributaries combination showed EHX attendees that a good system requires good components, as well as quality cabling and power conditioning to pull the complete home theater experience together," said Robert Archer, Senior Editor of CE Pro Magazine.

Archer continues, "In addition to the great products within the room, they also showed why a captivating system demo is also necessary to drive home the industry's message. This room was well prepared and it covered all the bases throughout its time in Demo Alley."
